WARFARE IN KOREA

Invasion of free South Korea by Russian-dominated North Korea undoubtedly stems from Russia's purpose to keep the west off balance in Asia and make it continue to lose face with to do businss wherever and what native populations which are struggling for self-determination after centuries under colonial control.

The west lost a lot of face when the Japs had some easy curity Council, there have been reports that the British would do as little as possible and try to avoid victories in the recent war. Russia now has assumed the farciçal position of "protecting" the natives from their "oppressors" and the west has found no satisfactory way to meet this diabolical propaganda.

Absorption of all of Korea into the Russian orbit would extend Moscow's control territorially and strengthen its position on the Pacific coast.

Russia entered into specific agreements about Korea, but Navy Commander Admiral Sir has, as usual, violated them. Unprecedentedly large crowds that tried to atend the climactic session of the United Nations Security Council might asily lead to the overly simple conclusion among average TL people that the U.N. can effectively deal with the Korean The Parent crisis to preserve peace.

No doubt many who clamored for seats at Lake Success Problem felt that way. But there is no doubt that many others were anxious, alarmed, skeptical or merely curious. For a moment in the fast-moving sequence of events, the spotlight was on the E. N., and more than 5,000 persons, for various individual reasons, gathered to form a record crowd.

Whatever the explanation, it was a healthy sign. The U.N. had been droning on for months, hamstrung by the Communist nations' walk-out, and attracting little attention from the people whose hopes for peace it was supposed to represent. Now, with the Korean invasion filling the world with uncertainty, it was beginning to merit the attention of these same people.

Don't Read Kinsey Report (By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30.-Fun's fun, and Congressmen are fair game, but there's an attempt in town to run a Kinsey Report on the 531 national law-makers—and it won't work.

With Senator Hoey's committee out to catch and fire all homosexuals from Government employment, a Washington newspaper comes up with a story that at least 1 out of every 13 male members of Congress is a pervert. The figures are taken from Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey's celebrated treatise on the male animal, and the Doctor himself has 'authorized" this interpretation of his data.

Doesn't Know Congress Males

Now, the doctor may know males, but it's evident that he doesn't know Congressional males. Even if his figures apply to the entire population, they don't apply to Capitol Hill. Congressmen are products of a highly selective system which sets them quite apart from the common run of mankind. They may not be more moral than the average man, but they are more masculine in the special meaning of the Kinsey Report. They have to be. Popularity is the stock in trade of all politicians, and the one quality shared by all Congressmen is the ability to get elected. There may be crooks, fools, drunkards and philanderers in Congress, but it's dollars to doughnuts that there are no overt perverts. The American political system is probably the best homosexual sieve in existence. By the time a Congressional candidate passes through the bosses' smoke-filled rooms, rings a thousand doorbells, makes a hundred speeches and submits to public election, he has run a series of tests which just can't be passed by a sexual abnormal. Most "Normal" Body Of Men

And since Congress is the most "normal" body of men in captixity, it is also the most intolerant when it comes to passing judgment on perversion. It is improbable that a grand guy-a much less selective and hence more "democratic" group than Congress—would have instructed the Hoey Committee to discover and dismiss every homosexual with a Government job. It is inconceivable than a panel of experts-medical men, for instance-would have gone this far. At a private dinner I recently heard a group of doctors make mincemeat of the Congressional assumption that there is any relationship between subversion and perversion. In the history of treason, what name -Benedict Arnold, Aaron Burr, John Brown-was ever associated with homosexual? Can it be proved that perverts go for Communism any stronger than do pipe-smokers like Stalin or horseback riders like

Hoey Committee Not Interested

But the Hoey Committee-and Congress itself-isn't interested in these fine points of logic. Capitol Hill doesn't care where homosexuals congregate, just so they don't congregate in government jobs. It is taken for granted that perverts are subject to blackmail, and that they shouldn't be in a position to surrender Federal secrets. There is no distinction between the degrees and graduations of homosexuanty.

Now, this intolerance may be what the country expects of a Senate committee in these particular circumstances. If so, let's have no more talk of the Kinsey Report. For the 49-page chapter on homosexuals would confuse the Hoey Committee beyond all reason. The investigators would find, for instance, that they cant wade knee-deep into this troubled subject. If they take one bold step, they are at once over their heads. Kinsey has this generalization:

"Males do not represent two discrete populations, heterosexual and homosexual. The world is not to be divided into sheep and goats. . . . The sooner we learn this concerning human sexual behavior, the sooner we shall reach a sound understanding."

Would Stop Investigation

That passage alone would stop the whole investigation which is specifically dedicated to dividing the Federal work force into sexual sheep and goats. Moreover, as Kinsey points out, there are males who have never practiced homosexuality but who think about it and are potential perverts. Is Congress going to root out these wretches too? And when it comes to appraising the final results, what will an investigator think when he comes to this part of the Kinsey Report?

"If persons with any trace of homosexual history, or those who are predominantly homosexual, were eliminated from the population, there is no reason for believing that the incidence of the homosexual in the next generation would be materially reduced. The homosexual has been a significant part of human sexual activity since the dawn of history, primarily because it is an expression of capacities that are basic in

When the investigation first opened, I reported that Senator Hoey (D., N. C.) would bring this unpleasant probe to a quiet and satisfactory end. But that was before I read the Kinsey Report. If I were Senator Hoey I'd keep all copies away from his investigators. Maybe that's the best way to handle this particular investigation. Otherwise there'll be

Old Statute Helps Build General Fund

HARRISBURG, June 30.—(INS) A 1919 statute ignored for almost two decades is responsible for adding several million dollars to the state's general fund.

That year the legislature decided to include national banks with state banks in filing with the state treasurer annual reports de-tailing all financial accounts that lay untouched for 10 or more years.

The unclaimed money was turned over to the state.

LOCAL WATERS

Twenty years ago tomorrow a dozen or so fishermen were gathered in a sporting goods store located in the former Smith building on East Washington Street. The question under discussion dealt with bass in local streams. Some declared that sizable bass in the Neshannock were a thing of the past. One venturesome individual claimed that he had seen a fair sized bass under the Washington street bridge only the day before. He was snowed under by the incredulous.

he added just as quietly.
Well, the upshot of the whole affair was that at midnight more than a score of fishermen as well as many who were not, were on hand to see whether or not the thin faced man could accomplish his quiet boast. Hub Hart was appointed the official judge as well as clerk of course. Quite a bit of money was wagered on the outcome most of it against what many come, most of it against what many thought a fantastic claim.

The fisherman used plugs an the fisherman used pings and he was a meticulous caster, skilled and flawless in form. The street lights dimly disclosed the fisherman and several rubber booted followers slowly working upstream. In the forty-two minutes that it took the fisherman to reach the point in the creek now spanned by the North Street bridge, he succeeded in landing three fine bass, each more than a foot long. When considerably more than a hundred feet from the foot of Croton Hill he stepped out of the water with his limit. His supporters collected dozen or so lithermen were gathered in a sporting goods store located in the former Smith building on East Washington Street. The question under discussion dealt with bass in local streams. Some declared that sizable bass in the Neshannock were a thing of the past. One venturesome individual claimed that he had seen a fair sized bass under the Washington street bridge only the day before. He was snowed under by the incredulous.

Finally, a thin faced man who had been hovering in the background managed to get in a word. "There are lots of bass in the Neshannock." he quietly declared as he nervously fingered a cigaret.

His declaration had the effect of a bombshell. The thin faced man was known to be a good fisherman and proved it by repeatedly bringing home the bacon.

A red faced choleric man who had borne the brunt of the negative argument bluntly asked, "So, you think you can get a catch of bass out of the Neshannock?"

Ho his precious spawn in a nest less than a score feet from the observer. (Incidentally, the male takes over family duties soon after the eggs are deposited). And since Neshannock Creek water is clean and cool there is reason to believe that bass spawn in many places throughout its considerable length.

Dr. D. L. Ferguson, the fishing parson, and former pastor of the Highland U. P. church was a great believer in the piscatorial productivity of local waters. His many excursions along the Neshannock, the Slippery Rock, and the Little Beaver as well as other county streams seldom failed to pay off. He was a master of streamcraft, a knowledge garnered by many personal jaunts along favorite streams. It goes without saying that the successful fisherman is one who knows more than the fishing technique he employs. Familiarity with the waters fished is considered that the object of the payoff. "Sure," was the quiet rejoinder.
"In fact, I'll wager that I can get the legal limit in that stretch between the New Castle Dry Goods Store and the foot of Croton Hill," be added just as quietly."

What the writer saw on that memorable night a score of years ago as well as Dr. Ferguson's more recent exploits indicate that it may pay dividends to give the local streams a whirl.

First Period Of Girl Scout Camp Closes

Outstanding feature of the closing of Girl Scout camping for older girls was the selection of the campers who were honored by being elected to membership in the Junior Camp committee. The selection was made by campers and counselors on a point system based on the greatest degree of improvement, contribution to unit and general camp life, courtesy and helpfulness to others.

Ida Spizzo of Bessemer and Barbara Cartwright of New Castle were selected by the Pioneers (the oldest camper group). The Explorer unit chose Katherine Glink of New Castle and Janet Kidoo of Mahoningtown. The Gypsies rated June Reed, Joyce Williams and Roberta Schell of New Castle as their best campers. The Pilagrims found Irma Rowan of New Bedferd Nerve Filters and Mars. Howard McCracken of McCracken of New Castle. Bedford, Nancy Filban, and Margie Urban of New Castle their choice.

Awards Are Made The above awards were made at the "all camp fire" in the natural Amphitheater. Ceremonial altar fires were lighted. In the center of each was placed a Friendship Bush on which had been placed bright strips of paper bearing the camper's names. As the otlames rose they consumed the Friendship bush symbolizing the joining of all the good wishes the campers had made when saying their names.

Counselor Phyllis Pugh had directed a field meet after formal colors and just previous to the trip to the theater. Each unit put on a skit based on the spirit of friendship as furthered by camp living.

Campers when checked out were weighed. Every camper had gained from two to ten pounds except one who had neither gained nor lost.

Appetites and food have both been excellent. The infirmary has fires were lighted. In the center

London Sees No War Desire In Soviet Reply

LONDON, June 30 .- (INS)-Diplomatic beservers in London said today that they consider the Soviet reply to America's note on Korea an indication that the Russians do not want any head-on elash with the United States.

Fitzroy MacLean, Conservative member of the House of Commons and a top wartime British intelligence agent, said that he is convinced Premier Stalin has "written off' Korea.

The Russians, in answering the . S. bid to help halt the war in Korea, declared they would not interfere in the internal affairs of any state. At the same time they accused South Korean authorities "and those who stand behind their back' of responsi-bility for the conflict.

Not Planning War

London observers consider the fact that Russia has not chosen openely to back the Communist Northern Korean regime as clear evidence that the Soviets are not planning to go to war.

It is felt that so long as Russia maintains a policy of non-intervention the situation in Korea can develop without bringing nearer the danger of actual hos-

MacLean termed the Soviet re-ply to the American note a flat "no war" statement by Stalin's government. MacLean said that as one who knows Russia well, speaks the language and has lived there for four years, Stalins answer means peace.

He explained: "The brutal truth is that America has called Stalins bluff."

It is baseball tradition that the team that leads the league on the Fourth of July, generally wins the pennant. The Senators meet Butler and Johnstown at home in the next six games and should be out in front next Tuesday evening if all goes well. By the Fourth of July the season will be one-half over.

Zedalis Will Hurl Tonight The amazing thing about the last three wins at Niagara Falls and the win over Youngstown is that they have done it without a first string relief-hurler—George Becka is still out with a sore stomach. Sherban and Janacone two rookies were used to start games at Niagara Falls, both needing help. Wagner and Zedalis used in relief, turned in wins. Manager Cronin switched his lineup last night as Niagara Falls used a left-hander Art Fulton, sending Dick Ackerman to center and Al Dunterman to first base, leaving but one left-hand hitter in the lineup Al Mouton, who incidentally hit two triples, one off Fulton and one off right-hand reliefer Carm De Muzio. in the eleventh. ### Question Of Security Is Discussed By Babson

I have sometimes heard men say portunity. that it was too bad peace didn't does. War often calls forth not a man's ability but his capacity. Dwight often stated that Roger W. Babson we human beings could not keep on living if there were no struggle and we were in "perfect security". Would Columbus have ever discovered America if he had been seeking freedom from risk? Would Patton have been seeking freedom from risk? Would Patton where been effect fighting general. have been a great fighting general if he had been afraid to swim the rivers or storm the bridges with his men? Would Gandhi have been the beloved leader he was to his people if he had sought first of all to protect his own physical health

Ralph Waldo Emerson once said, "Nothing can bring you peace but philosophers because they were seeking security for themselves? James Byrnes in a speech the last Conference of Southern Governors is reported to have said, in effect, that the people who settled this country did not come here came to escape the tyrannies of

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 30.
—Webster's Dictionary definition of "security" includes freedom from fear, freedom from risk, danger, harm or the like.

Is Security Desirable?
I have sometimes heard men say bad peace didn't seem to provide quite the stimulus for greatness and distinction that war does. War often aid to farmers, more loans to small business, more health insurance and employment security. Each and employment security. Each and every suggestion amounts to a promise to spend more as a charity to support this group or that-out of the people's own hard-earned tax money. Moreover, may I ask if the politicians are doing this for whether he does a good job or a poor one? He loses all incentive to excel. The public must realize by now that too many of their government's employees feel "secure" in their jobs. Yet, they don't have to produce anything which must stand factory or retailer's or consumer's inspection. Even more discouraging is the attitude of "Nothing can bring you peace but the triumph of principles" Do we admire or gather inspiration from any of our heroes, poets, or philosophers because they were terested only in jobs which will offer them old age pensions and other benefits. As Americans, they should be ashamed of themselves. They should be looking toward jobs where there's a chance to work up, to earn advancement in an incentive system, not in a "sure thing" system. Pension systems may help level retail sales over a period of years; but most pension stems will never increase the total of national income.
